A scientific search for the mythical sea monster of Lake Winnipegosis will be made this summer by Dr. James A. McLeod, left, of the University of Manitoba. The monster, dubbed "Manipogo" after the mythical "Ogopogo" of Lake Okanagan in B.C., has been reported by many people over the years. If Dr. McLeod can't find the monster he hopes to find remains that might bolster the find in the 1930s of an unusual bone (right) which might have belonged to such a creature.

Visits Lac La Biche:

Professor Impressed With Natural Beauty, Fine People

By Ken Larson

A visit to Lac la Biche by Professor John A. Irving, head of the Department of Philosophy, Victoria College, University of Toronto, left him with a very good impression of the people and prospects for the district's future.

Prof. Irving, who is a visiting professor of philosophy at the 1961 summer session of the University of Alberta, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Pue at Camp McGrane, last weekend.

Author of "The Social Credit Movement In Alberta", Prof. Irving discussed the development of the movement in the Lac la Biche constituency with former MLA Harry Lobay, Rudolph Michetti, constituency association president, and E. J. Woynarowich, candidate in the last provincial election.

A chat with Mike Maccagno, Alberta's lone Liberal MLA, about the Liberal movement, and non-political talks with Michael Hamar and Marshal Hamar, left Prof. Irving impressed with the calibre of men serving the interests of the district in various ways.

"That country has a great future" said Prof. Irving. "I'm very impressed with the possibility of economic development in northern Alberta. Much progress has already been made. I feel the tourist trade can and should be developed because of the natural beauty of the area. There needs to be a hard surfaced road from Edmonton to the town, though."

Prof. Irving saw the beauty of the lake during trips in Mr. Pue's launch operated by J. A. Johanson. They visited Pelican Island, which Prof. Irving believes is a top-notch tourist attraction.

He had a very close look at the Sun Publishing project, Camp McGrane, where hundreds of children had free camping facilities this summer. Prof. Irving believes the camp would be an ideal setting for conferences on social, economic and political questions.

The professor, in his book on the SC movement, gives a detailed analysis of the rise of the Socreds to power. It is based on thousands of interviews with people in Alberta—and even in Lac la Biche he still couldn't resist asking questions.

A contributing editor to Saturday Night, and a frequent guest, interviewer and panelist on CBC radio and TV programs in Toronto, Prof. Irving addressed the Hiroshima Day rally in Alberta College Auditorium August 6.

His address on nuclear warfare was carried over CKUA that night. He also appeared as guest on CFRN's TV program, Face The Newsmen. Newsmen included Mr. Pue, Ab Douglas, Terry Spence.

Record Year For House Construction In Lac La Biche

LAC LA BICHE—This year will go down in the records of this town as the year in which some of the finest houses were built. House construction began as soon as the frost was out of the ground and has continued at an increasing pace.

The Ed Guinand family are now living in their modern cottage with full basement in Block 25. Mr. and Mrs. A. Gatzke are occupying their new home of pre-fab construction on Lake Prominade. The new home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carrier, in Block 25 has received the first coat of plaster and is moving along steadily. Good progress is being bade on the new Michael Maccagno home on Nanton street, with crews turning their attention to inside finishing.

Footings have been poured for a new home for Paul Gaberel's, and forms are being made ready for a full basement. Footings are presently being poured for the Louis Shewchuk family in Block 31. Footings are completed and forms are being built for a four apartment house of the local firm of B. and C. Investments Ltd. in Block 29.

"The Eldage Gregoires' have completed a new pre-fab home in Block 19. Leopold Langevin has started the footings for a new home on the lot adjoining his father in Block 10."

Apart from the activity in house construction, a building permit has now been approved for a new school estimated to cost not far short of half a million dollars. The school will be built on part of Block N, which is in the South-west section of the Town. Construction is expected to begin in less than a month's time.

For the past week's regular meeting of Town Council, Councillors Vincent, Tkachuk and Bouvier, and Mayor Hamar and Secretary Creighton were present. Doug Mitchel and Edge King, of Northland Utilities Co. were present to discuss a renewal franchise agreement for electric power. A new proposal with some improvement over rate schedules in previous offers was presented by Mr. King and read to Council clause by clause. After some discussion and one or two alterations, first reading was given to a by-law adopting the franchise agreement.

A report of the Provincial Municipal Inspector on conditions as he found them on a recent inspection of the Town's records, was read by the Mayor and ordered filed.

The question of water rates and water meters was brought up and council voted unanomously in favour of installing water meters instead of the flat rate system now in use.

Thirteen applications for the position of police constable were read by the mayor and secretary. The matter was not finally settled, as certain applications are to be looked into more thoroughly before making the appointment.

The issue of a civic holiday was on the agenda but no date was named. Council felt it would be best to choose a date to coincide with some special occasion rather than name a day at random. Next meeting is expected to bring information which will make it posible to set a date.

An application from the Lac la Biche School Division for use of the library room as a classroom until the new school is built was considered and given unanomous approval.

A long and varied list of accounts totalling $2,665.64 was approved for payment. The meeting adjourned to the following Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Slow Summer Months Allow Short Committee Session

The August 8 meeting of the school committee of the County of Athabasca was relatively short, being completed in one day only. There are only two or three sessions during the year when this is possible — early in the calendar year and during the summer months when school business is not as heavy as during the school year.

There have been 12 applications for bursaries, 10 from the County and two from outside. All will be approved provided the applicants qualify.

There is a housing problem for incoming teachers and considerable discussion was given this matter.

The county has purchased 20 typewriters following receipt of quotations from four firms. All the newcomers will be Smith-Corna, the first time this make has been used in the county schools.

The date for the ASTA convention has been set for November 22-23-24 in the Macdonald Hotel, Edmonton. No delegates have been appointed as yet, but the matter was left to a later meeting.

The County is continuing its support of district children in the Winnifred Stewart School in Edmonton.

NEW BOYLE PRINCIPAL

Two more resignations have been received: from Mrs. M. Seim and Lois McCutcheon. Appointments have been made: C. D. Ledgerwood, principal of the Athabasca Elementary School; Lorraine Zilinski, H. G. Shaw, acting principal of Rochester School; W. C. Davidson, principal of Boyle School; Mrs. J. Breckenridge; Mrs. A. A. Kiesow, temporary teacher at Calling Lake.

A report was made of the coaching school being presently held in Edwin Parr. There are 24 registered, 20 from the County and four from outside points. The Grade 12 marks were much better on the average this year and the local demand was not as great as some years.

BOYLE ADDITION

Some discussion was given the need for extra accommodation in Boyle School. Two additional classrooms are needed and an attempt is being made to rent space in the newly completed Boyle Community Centre.

Martin Lund met with the committe in regard to purchase of his school bus. An appraisal has been made and the committee will recommend the purchase to the county council.

Accounts were examined and approved for payment.

County To Ask Reconsideration For Bridge Branch Decisions

Bridges became a main issue on the agenda as the County of Athabasca Council met August 10. With the exception of Al Aloisio, who has been confined to his home for some time with an injury, all members were present for the meeting.

A letter in regard to the request for bridges from the Bridge Branch was read. Disappointment was expressed by several councillors as several of the bridges refused could be used as school bus crossings if repaired. It was decided to write the Bridge Branch in regard to a number of the bridges, asking that the Branch re-consider the first decision.

The location of one bridge was discussed, complete with diagrams on the blackboard, as this one was approved, providing location could be agreed upon. The owner of the land did not agree with the councillor as to the location of the new bridge. After the explanation of the situation and a thorough discussion, council recommended a route, that a surveyor be hired and that the ratepayer be offered the old roadway in exchange for the new.

The report of the Budget Committee was read. Again, a discussion of the financial position of the County ensued.

The idea was expressed that the Conuty could not take part in the Winter Works program in 1961-62 After some discussion the matter was left till later on in the year.

The "Form A's" were left with the secretary and the acceptance moved. The secretary asked for a list of culverts used, including size and length.

Approval was given to the recommendation by the School Committee on the purchase of the Lund school bus.

A request by a ratepayer that the road on his property be moved to the road allowance was discussed, but it was felt there were not enough people living so they could use the road to warrant expenditure of making a new road.

After opening procedure, discussion centred on the drainage problem of I. Botten and J. McNamara. The matter was left for further information. The road which has been under discussion to run between the NW and the NE 22-66-19, was also left.

A request by a ratepayer to lease the SW 14-67-21 was discussed but not granted as the land is now under parkland lease.

Application forms re. Prairie Farm Assistance may be obtained from each Councillor. Estimated per acre.

Nothing further was available on the zoning by-law and the matter will come up again next month.

The sale of the NE 31-67-19 to Nick J. Berenzansky, of Prosperity, was approved.

The financial statement was read. Anxiety was expressed by several members of the council in regard to the financial position. Effort is being made to secure payment on over-due taxes in an effort to bring the county into a stable position.

A discussion of moving telephone line bordering contingency roads ended with the Colinton Mutual Telephone line. It was reported the line was being built all the way to Colinton, but the opinion was expressed that once the hill was reached the county could no longer be concerned.

It is expected the AGT will be calling a meeting shortly in Athabasca to discuss the changeover to dial phones.

Several gravel permits have been issued since the last meeting.

Reservation for a road on the Meanook-Fawcett road was requested. Council is asking for 17 feet on SW 25-64-25.

A wooden sidewalk parallel to the first road crossing north of the station at Colinton was discussed. The railway is to lay the plank across the ties and rails. Council will make formal application and it is expected the railway will forward the necessary forms. Council would like to have work start in the spring of 1962.

The secretary read the weed spraying report, with a total of 180 miles sprayed at a cost of $4,860.

It was suggested the council send a resolution to the convention that spray tanks be allowed to use purple gas.

Of seven requests to purchase land, one was sold: the SW 32-65-24 to William Bahry. Five of the others were tabled and one would-be purchaser was informed his bid was not high enough.

At the request of Fred Chrusch, council granted permission to Iwan Muzyka, who is now in England, to come to the area.

Permission was granted Peter Nimco to erect a cattle crossing sign. Permission was given to register a transfer.

Arrangments were made for a temporary loan, to cover current expenditures.

Canadian artist Frank Panabaker, of Ancaster, Ont., stands beside two identical paintings, but only one was done by him. Mr. Panabaker himself was fooled by the bottom painting which he noticed in a florist shop window. The painting looked dull so he offered to varnish it. Then he realized it was a forgery. The work, entitled Georgian Bay Pines, was sold to Mrs. Churchill Mann of Toronto in 1952. Mr. Panabaker has not discovered who did the forgery.

One And Half Million Dollar Building To Be Erected By Bank Of Montreal

The main branch of the Bank of Montreal at 101st Street and Jasper will be demolished next spring to make way for a new eight to ten story bank building.

In a joint announcement, Donald Love president of Oxford Leaseholds, and William Newbigging, bank manager, said the new building would cost one and a half million dollars and would be completed in 1963. The bank would occupy the first three floors of the building which will be the largest bank building in Edmonton.

During construction the bank will be housed in temporary quarters on the Alberta College grounds. The wooden Alberta College building will be demolished immediately and a new building, which will eventually become the college's administration building, will be put up.

The present stone building was designed by Rollie Lyons and was built in 1916. It housed the Bank of British North America before being taken over by the Bank of Montreal.

The architect on the new building is Gordon Wynn. The new structure will be of masonry and stone.

Farm prosperity is essential to national prosperity, and, at times, to having something on the table to eat.

THE Homemaker

By BERTHA M. McCUTCHEON

Last year 58 people lost their lives in Alberta from drowning. Let us see if we cannot prevent many of these needless tragedies by following water safety rules and avoiding carelessness. Use common sense at all times and plan exactly what you will do in an emergency before the emergency happens is the advice to water sports enthusiasts from the Canadion Red Cross and the Alberta Safety Council.

B. McCutcheon

To prevent swimming accidents, pick a place that is free from currents and undertows. Hidden obstacles such as submerged stumps, sharp rocks, rusty tins and holes are a real danger. Never swim for at least two hours after a meal and swim during daylight. Wade in slowly before submerging to reduce the shock of cold water which can and does cause camps. Never swim alone.

Water skiers should be good swimmers and should always wear lifebelts. A fall at high speed could easily knock a skier unconscious and he could sink before help reached him. The tow boat should have at least have two people in it—one to run the boat and the other to watch the skier. Learn and use the water skiing signals to avoid accidents due to misunderstanding signs.

Canoes, row boats and sailing boats are often involved in accidents because their operators are not skilled enough in handling them. Know the idiosyncrasies of your craft and the whims of the weather. Never try to beat a storm. If the boat overturns, hang on to it until help arrives. Be sure that your boat is properly equipped with safety devices and life-jackets.

Hunters and fishermen are advised to losen their clothing ready for removal in case of an accident. Heavy clothes and boots are dangerous in the water. Remember to keep still when fishing. Often a accident occurs in the excitement of landing a big fish. When casting or playing a fish, a good fisherman stays seated. If the fish goes under the boat, pass the line around the end to the other side. Paddles or similar equipment should always be included in the gear when a boat is used for hunting or fishing, Never forget that your life is more valuable than the rod or rifle you may lose during an emergency.

Water sports can be fun and they can be safe, if all who participate practise common sense. You can brush up on your water safety rules by getting a copy of "Boating and Water Safety" from the Canadian Red Cross or from the Alberta Safety Council, 10526-Jasper Avenue, Edmonton.

LIFEJACKETS

Get a copy of Safety Afloat from the Marine Regulations Branch, Dept. of Transport, Ottawa. This booklet which is issued for owners of small boats gives water safety information. It also includes pictures and descriptions of life jackets.

The Canadian Association of Consumers gives the following information concerning life jackets:

SIZES

Make sure that each jacket is a proper snug fit and is the correct size for each wearer. It should be comfortable to wear and permit freedom of motion to the wearer both in and out of the water. Selection of jackets for children or adults involves a choice of sizes depending on body weight: Size A is for body weight of more than 90 lbs.; Size B for those of 45 to 90 lbs.; and Size C for younsters of less than 50 lbs.

STYLES

Three styles of lifejackets are made: (1) Pullover—consists of two or more sections permanently joined together with a harness which fits over the head and around the neck; (2) Open front—three or more sections separable on the centre line in front; (3) One-piece—consists of a single buoyancy element with a neck hole. It may have a front opening or be closed in front.

Life-saving cushions, rectangular in shape are also available. They have a loop on one 15 inch end and tie tapes on the sides. Cushions may be made in lengths of 15 to 21 inches.

MATERIAL

Buoyancy material in all these jackets and cushions may be of either unicellular foam filling, or new kapok contained in one or more vinyl film envelopes to keep it dry.

COLOR

The outer fabric of the latest types of jackets is dyed red, orange or bright yellow, because these colors have a high degree of visibility.

TRY THEM OUT

As soon as possible after purchase, the lifejacket should be fitted, properly fastened and tried out in the water, especially where young children are concerned. Get your child accustomed to the wearing of a lifejaket and make sure it is always securely fastened. It will not do the job for which it was designed and manufactured if it is merely worn without being securely fastened.

Any approved jacket is so designed that it floats the wearer at a slight angle on his back and holds his head and face clear of the water. Too big a lifejacket will tend to make the wearertop-heavy, thus nullifying the purpose of the lifejacket which is to float the wearer at the right angle and height in the water. Very young children are heavier in the upper parts of their bodies and too large a lifejacket would only accentuate this trouble and tend to put them on their faces.

REMEMBER — Buy an approved lifejacket.

Fit it to the wearer and make sure it is a good fit above the waist Practise with it in the water.

Show your children how to use their lifejackets.

Athabasca 50th Anniversary Celebrations On Labor Day

Sept. 4 is more than Labor Day to the burgesses of the town of Athabasca, for on that day they and the people for many miles around will gather to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the town.

Athabasca has played an important part in the history and development of Canada's northwest.

In 1848 the Hudson's Bay Company established a post at Athabasca Landing. Supplies were freighted overland and stored at Athabasca Landing during the winter to await the opening up of navigation in the spring when flatboats would carry their cargos to Lake Athabasca, thence up the Peace River to the west, or down the Slave River into the far north.

In the early days before the railroads and the airplane, Athabasca Landing was the last stopping place on the route to the far north. Transporation beyond that point was mostly by water. Indians and trappers brought furs in abundance by raft and canoe to the Hudson's Bay and Revillon Brothers' trading posts which were located on the present townsite. The Hudson's Boy Company operated a fleet of stern-wheeler steamboats which included the "Athabasca River" built here by the Hudson's Bay Company, and equipped with engines and boilers shipped from Ireland.

The Northern Transportation Company, headed by Col. J. K. Corwall (Peace River Jim) also operated a fleet of boats between Grouard on Lesser Slave Lake and Grand Rapids about 125 miles downstream from the town. Among these boats were the "S. S. Northland" and the S. S. Midnight Sun", both double deck stern-wheelers.

The old Athabasca Landing Trail is now followed by Highway No. 2 which leads to Peace River. The trail was the main route used by the early settlers on their way to the Peace River country, and further west to Hudson Hope in British Columbia. These early settlers travelled 100 miles by stage from Edmonton to Athabasca Landing; 195 miles by water to Lesser Slave Village; 90 miles by freight team to Peace River Landing; then up the Peace River 240 miles to Hudson Hope.

The hamlet was erected as a village May 18, 1905, and incorporated as a town September 19, 1911.

July 20, 1922 Athabasca Municipal Hospital District No. 13 was established. This hospital district opened a new class C hospital with 42 beds and 13 bassients on February 21, 1952, and handed over their old 27 bed hospital free of charge to the Sisters of Providence to be used as a home for the aged and chronically ill of the district.

In 1893 Dominion Government engineers were drilling a test hole near Athabasca when they struck a small quantity of gas. In 1897 they drilled two more wells and struck a large flow of gas at 334 feet; the roar of this gas could be heard for half a mile. These wells were abandoned. In 1897 they drilled a well at Pelican Rapids and struck a good flow of gas. This gas well blew wild for 21 years.

The surrounding district was surveyed for homesteads in 1883 by J.A. MacMillan, D.L.S., and the townsite surveyed in 1889 by J. K. McLean, D.L.S. These plans are still in use in the town office.

A ferry was placed in operation by the Provincial Government in 1906. This ferry was replaced by a $470,000 steel bridge officially opened on June 9, 1952.

Athabasca School District No. 839 was established May 13, 1903. In was included in Athabasca School Division No. 42 on January 1, 1945. The Division was established October 22, 1938.

The prairie railways were conected with the vast water transportation of the north, when the first train arrived at Athabasca from Edmonton in 1912.

A disastrous fire almost destroyed the whole town in 1913.

A central water system was installed in 1912, replaced in 1949, and a sewerage system installed in 1951. On October 9, 1946, Athabasca Utilities Limited were granted a franchise to supply the town with natural gas. In 1931, Angus A. McLeod and John Van Dyke who owned the Athabasca creamery, operated a small steam-electric plant, and on October 1, 1937, they were granted a franchise to supply the town with light and power. They sold out to Dominion Electric Power Limited of Estevan, Saskatchewan, in 1940, which was reorganized as Northland Utilities Limited in 1954. Natural gas was used for lighting the streets during 1912.

The writer of this weekly advice column is an 11-year-old boy. The advice he gives is strictly his own. It has not been changed by his parents or the editor. He welcomes letters from parents. If you want him to discuss your problem write to ASK HENRY, in care of this newspaper.

Dear Henry:

I am a teacher. I am interested to know what children say when they leave school for their long summer holiday. A Teacher.

Dear Teacher:

We say: Let's get off the school grounds before the school board change their mind. HENRY

Dear Henry:

My son is forever interrupting my friends and me. It becomes very embarrassing. What should I do about this? Embarrassed Parent.

Dear Embarrassed Parent:

Tell your boy not to interrupt in a conversation because it is not polite. Tell him to put up his hand as he does at school if he wants to say anything. Then when the person finishes it is your boy's turn to talk. HENRY

Dear Henry:

For three weeks two of my grandchildren, nine and eight, came to me from school for lunch. Reason: their mother was ill. First I inquired from their mother what food they liked. Later I learned they reported to their parents that I offered them only jam sandwiches. We did have that once only, along with many other things. Please tell me how should I feel. I dote on them and have given them a lot of presents.

A Youngish, Somewhat Less Doting Grandmother.

Dear Grandmother:

1. Explain the truth to their mother.
2. When kids are mad at their Grandma for some reason which is not reasonable to tell their parents, they make up a reasonable reason.
3. Invite your grandchildren to lunch and only serve them jam sandwiches. HENRY

Dear Henry:

I am a girl of ten. I have six boy friends and love them all. How can I find out if they love me?

In Love.

Dear Girly:

Ask them. But if you want to know which one loves you most, play:
Ee-nee meenee mine-ee moe
Catch a tiger by the toe
If he hollers, let him go
Ee-nee meen-ee mine-ee moe.
Moe loves you most.

Lions Governor Arseneau Reports Successful District Conference

The third annual District 37B Lions Club Leadership Training Conference for clubs in Northern Alberta, held August 12 and 13 at the Park Hotel in Edmonton was, it is reported by District Governor Hector Arseneau of St. Albert, a complete success.

The program on August 12 featured adddresses by Past International Director A. G. Kirstien, Canadian Director Paul Guenette, International Counciler Rudy Rippel, and District Public Relations Director Bruce Aubrey.

Over one hundred delegates and their wives attended a banquet on Saturday evening and were addressed by International Director Leo C. Graybill of Great Falls, Montana, who was the international guest to the conference. Lion Graybill in his remarks dealt with the "Profit Motive" in Lionism and pointed out that by profit he referred not to financial gain but rather to the valuable results and useful consequences of service to others. He suggested that the ultimate goal of all humankind was happiness and quoting from Lion Dr. Albert Schweitzer, world-renowned humanitarian and missionary doctor, he said "only those of you will be truly happy who have sought and found how to serve." Lion Graybill reminded delegates the motto of Lionism is "We Serve" and through this service over six hundred thousand Lions throughout the free world had found happiness through serving others in successful completion of over 200,000 projects in the past year. Lion Graybill suggested that the Lions Clubs in this area redouble their efforts to serve their community, their country and mankind and asked that every Lions Club in Northern Alberta consider the request of Lions International President Per Stahl of Sweden that Lions Clubs sponsor a worthwhile person in their communities to spend a year in a foreign land. Such an undertaking, the International President has suggested, would do much to foster mutual understanding of world problems and further world peace which is the ultimate goal of all freedom-loving people.

On August 13, the conference continued with a breakfast and round discussions which were deemed to be completely successful by the moderators and all those in attendance.

The conference was closed following a summation by District Governor Arseneau where in he thanked the delegates for their attendance and pledged himself and his cabinet to make this year in Northern Alberta Lionism the greatest ever. He asked the support of the leaders from the 37 Lions Clubs who attended and suggested that with hard work, adherence to the code of ethics and the Lionc Clubs objectives, all Lions members could make their communities a better place in which to raise their families.
